INTRODUCTION

Andrew Vassell is a purpose-driven motivational speaker. He values his roles of being a husband, a father and above all else, a follower of Christ. He has a strong passion for helping people level up to become a better version of themselves. Whether his topic is about personal development, mindset elevation, maximizing potential, or pursuing purpose, Andrew's message is always engaging and thought provoking. He truly has a way of captivating his audience and compelling them to make a change.

THE MISSION

Andrew is on a mission to help people transition from living a life of mediocrity to leading a life of excellence! He believes that everyone has untapped potential inside of them, and it is his objective to help them cultivate and maximize that potential.

His motto is "It's not enough to do well, the goal is to Excel!"

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

“ I am so happy with the service that Andrew provided for our students. The group was engaged and actively participated in the mini exercise that he led. Andrew obviously made a great connection because our students had quality questions at the end of the presentation and were talking about it the following day. I look forward to working with Andrew in the near future on similar and other topics. ”
